

If you see corruption, have confidence you can do something about it.

Changes to Victoria's public interest disclosure laws mean there are now added protections for people reporting public sector corruption or police misconduct. And it's also easier: most government agencies now have a Public Interest Disclosure Coordinator who is there to support you.

It's now safer and easier to report corruption.

To find out more, talk to a manager, your Public Interest Disclosure Coordinator or call IBAC on 1300 735 135.

To report corruption or misconduct now, visit ibac.vic.gov.au.
